Dedication

Maybe your "big one" got away, but we have the prize catch. That prize catch is you, Nora Newman. Serving our school well as a commercial teacher for thirteen years, you have maintained high teaching standards that have produced top quality graduates. In appreciation of your conscientious work in the classroom and as Pep Club adviser for eleven years, we, the students of Irene S. Reed High School, dedicate this 1962 Saghalie to you.

Irene S. Reed

Walking down these halls today brings forth nostalgic memories for the past and hope for the future. Fond memories are inspired by the sight of the steps leading to Irene S. Reed's halls of higher knowledge, while the newer Grant C. Angle building offers its special inspiration for those who enter there.

Grant C. Angle School

Today's students entered these hallowed portals fearful but hopeful. As tomorrow's leaders, they will never forget their Alma Mater whose traditions will always be as they are today, a part of their lives.

Librarian

MARY LOU RAKOWICZ
B. A.

Managing her diversified job with professional ease and understanding is Mrs. Mary Lou Rakowicz, Irene S. Reed's school librarian. She is responsible for the choice of new books, for organizing the card files, and for assigning a number and a place to each book. She also works closely with teachers to find information for reference assignments. Although this is only her first year at I. S. R., Mrs. Rakowicz added the responsibility of being Girls' Club adviser to her already heavy work load.

Secretary

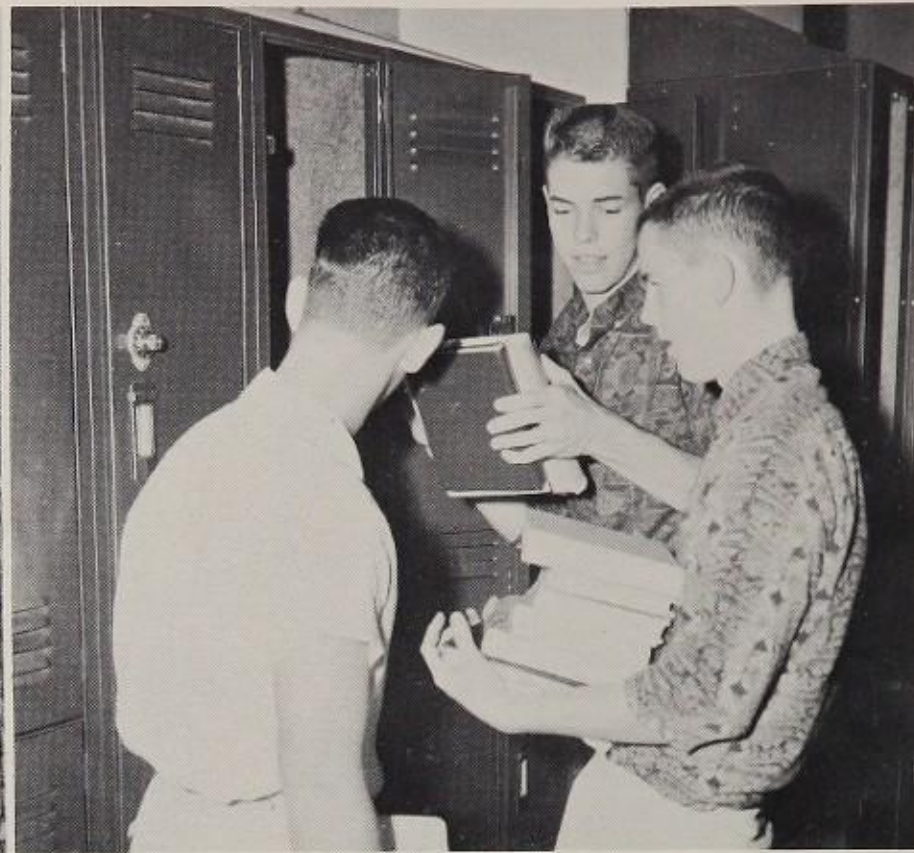

VELMA STROUD

Who guides new students, fills out excuse slips when the scholars "just couldn't make it," and waits patiently while they count out pennies and nickels to pay overdue lunch bills? Who is allowed to guard Mr. Hermes' inner office? Who can find the right information in the endless record files? No one but the high school secretary, Mrs. Velma Stroud, could handle all these jobs with equanimity.

Dixieland Band performs at many functions throughout the year.

Scraping lunch plates is part of eating in the cafeteria.

During the lunch hour students congregate in the auditorium.

Cooks: Mrs. Jovita Cole, Mrs. Phyllis Brown, Mrs. Clara Huntley.

People we appreciate

Making hot lunches each day for over two hundred ravenous high school students is no easy task. Appreciation is due Irene S. Reed's cook and kitchen helpers for their tasty meals, friendly smiles, and patience.

Mr. Helgren

Who cleans up the debris left after students have stampeded to the buses? When a student's locker is jammed, who comes to the rescue? Why, knights in work clothes, the school janitors. These hardworking individuals deserve a hearty thanks from the students of I. S. R.

Seniors

Mr. Andy Tuson

Stretching before the senior class of 1962 is the challenge of the future, but, as graduation approaches, nostalgia envelops each individual. Many happy high school memories are reflected upon as minds look back to earlier triumphs.

Upon entering Irene S. Reed in the fall of 1959, this class elected Denny Hinton, president; Lynn Jeffrey, vice-president; Colleen Dombroski, secretary-treasurer; and Scott Elliott, Board of Control representative. Class faculty advisers were Miss Norma Fitzer and Mr. Jerry Vermillion. Talented sophomores participated in sports, journalism, music, and dramatics. Highlighting the year's activities was the sophomore play, "Drum of Death," presented in May 1960. Several parts in the Christmas radio play were also filled by sophomores. On the pep staff that year, two sophomores, Kathy Santamaria, song queen, and Penny Kimbel, yell leader.

Sun-tanned and rested after summer vacation, this class returned to the challenge of books and teachers. They elected Richard Watson, class president; Gary Simons, vice-president; Jerie Albrecht, secretary; and Kent Johnson, Board of Control representative. Miss Irene Burrig and Mr. Robert Sund were faculty advisers for the class. Under the direction of Mr. Dean Tarrach, a three act farce, "The Perfect Idiot", was presented by the juniors in October. Seven juniors earned letters on the Highclimber football squad, and three juniors were starters on the varsity basketball team. Many juniors displayed talent as they lettered in wrestling, tennis, baseball, golf, and track. Representing the juniors on the pep staff were Kathy Santamaria and Diane Woods, song queens, and Gary Calkins, yell king. When spring came about twenty juniors were initiated into National Honor Society. The Junior Prom, "Bali Hai," was a memorable event. Given the honor of attending Girls' State were Deenie Dudley, Sharon Kellerman, Sheryll Schlegel and Jane Shumate, while Gary Simons, Ralph Hoard, Denny Hinton, and Stan Johnston represented I. S. R. at Boys' State.

To lead the seniors through their final year the following officers were chosen: Cathy Heuston, president; Carol Zabroski, secretary-treasurer and Kay DeMiero, Board of Control representative. Mr. Andy Tuson and Mrs. Lucille Thomas advised the class. In November "Moonlight and Shadows" enchanted all who attended the Senior Ball. Four seniors were on the Pep Staff this year, two song queens and two yell leaders. Seniors were active in all sports from football to track. Directed by Mr. Larry Nelson, aspiring senior thespians presented "The Curious Savage" in March. Reminiscing finished, seniors in the class of 1962 again faced the future with confidence, certain that commencement would bring exciting new adventures.

"Moonlight and Shadows"

"Moonlight and Shadows" cast a spell of enchantment over those attending the Senior Ball, held November 17, 1961, in the Angle Building gym. Music was provided by the Merlin Ellis Orchestra. Reigning over the affair were King Mike Smith and Queen Judy Rowe. Suzanne Wetter and Barbara Johnson, decorations co-chairmen, miraculously changed the gym into a dreamland. Cathy Heuston as general chairman and the various committees and class advisers helped make this a most memorable evening.

Senior Ball chairmen: Cathy Heuston, Judy Rowe, Babe Donaldson, Mary Jane Cook, Carol Zabroski, Suzanne Wetter, Barbara Johnson, and Dean Dewell.

"The Curious Savage"

Where does reason end and insanity begin? This was the theme of "The Curious Savage," presented March 6, 1962, by members of the senior class. Purely selfish motives caused the children of Ethel Savage, an eccentric widow, to have their mother committed to a home for the mentally ill. Mrs. Savage's efforts to prove her sanity and to guard her husband's estate had hilarious repercussions.

Juniors

Leading the class of 1963 through their second active year of high school were junior class officers: John Anderson, president; Loren Gee, vice president; Randi Tuson, secretary; Al Wagner, Board of Control representative. Miss Irene Burright and Mr. Robert Sund served as class advisers. The first activity of the year was the junior play in November. Under the direction of Mr. Dean Tarrach, two one-act plays, "Mooncalf Mugford" and "The Revolt of Mother" were presented.

As members of the pep staff, Marilyn Hughes and Paula Harmon, cheered the Climbers to victory. Also supporting the Highclimbers with their pep were many junior girls in Pep Club. Juniors also participated in G.A.A., band, choir, and several other school activities. Junior boys proved invaluable to the Highclimber football squad with eleven lettering in grid competition. Basketball was another sport popular with junior boys. Several were starters on the varsity team. Junior boys also flexed their muscles on the school wrestling team. Turning their talents to spring sports, juniors participated in baseball, track, tennis, and golf.

Junior Class

Behind the scenes, Gloria Walker applies makeup to Rene Fain.

Directed by Mr. Dean Tarrach, members of the junior class presented two one-act plays on November 7, 1961. "The Revolt of Mother" depicted a farm woman's fight to get the house she had long desired. The second play, "Mooncalf Mugford," was more psychological in nature. It told of a demented individual who finally drove his wife crazy by his insane antics.

Sophomores

Beginning their first year in high school, the sophomores of 1961-62 elected Bob Jeffery as their class president, and Dan Olson as vice president. Endowed with the secretarial responsibilities, Ginna Correa kept an accurate account. Ron Orr represented the newcomers on the Board of Control. As sophomore class adviser, Mr. Harold Wilson counseled the students throughout the year. These determined sophomores, who were at first held so in awe by the sure-footed upper classmen, the massive building, and the utter confusion, soon gained ground and headed confidently into a successful year.

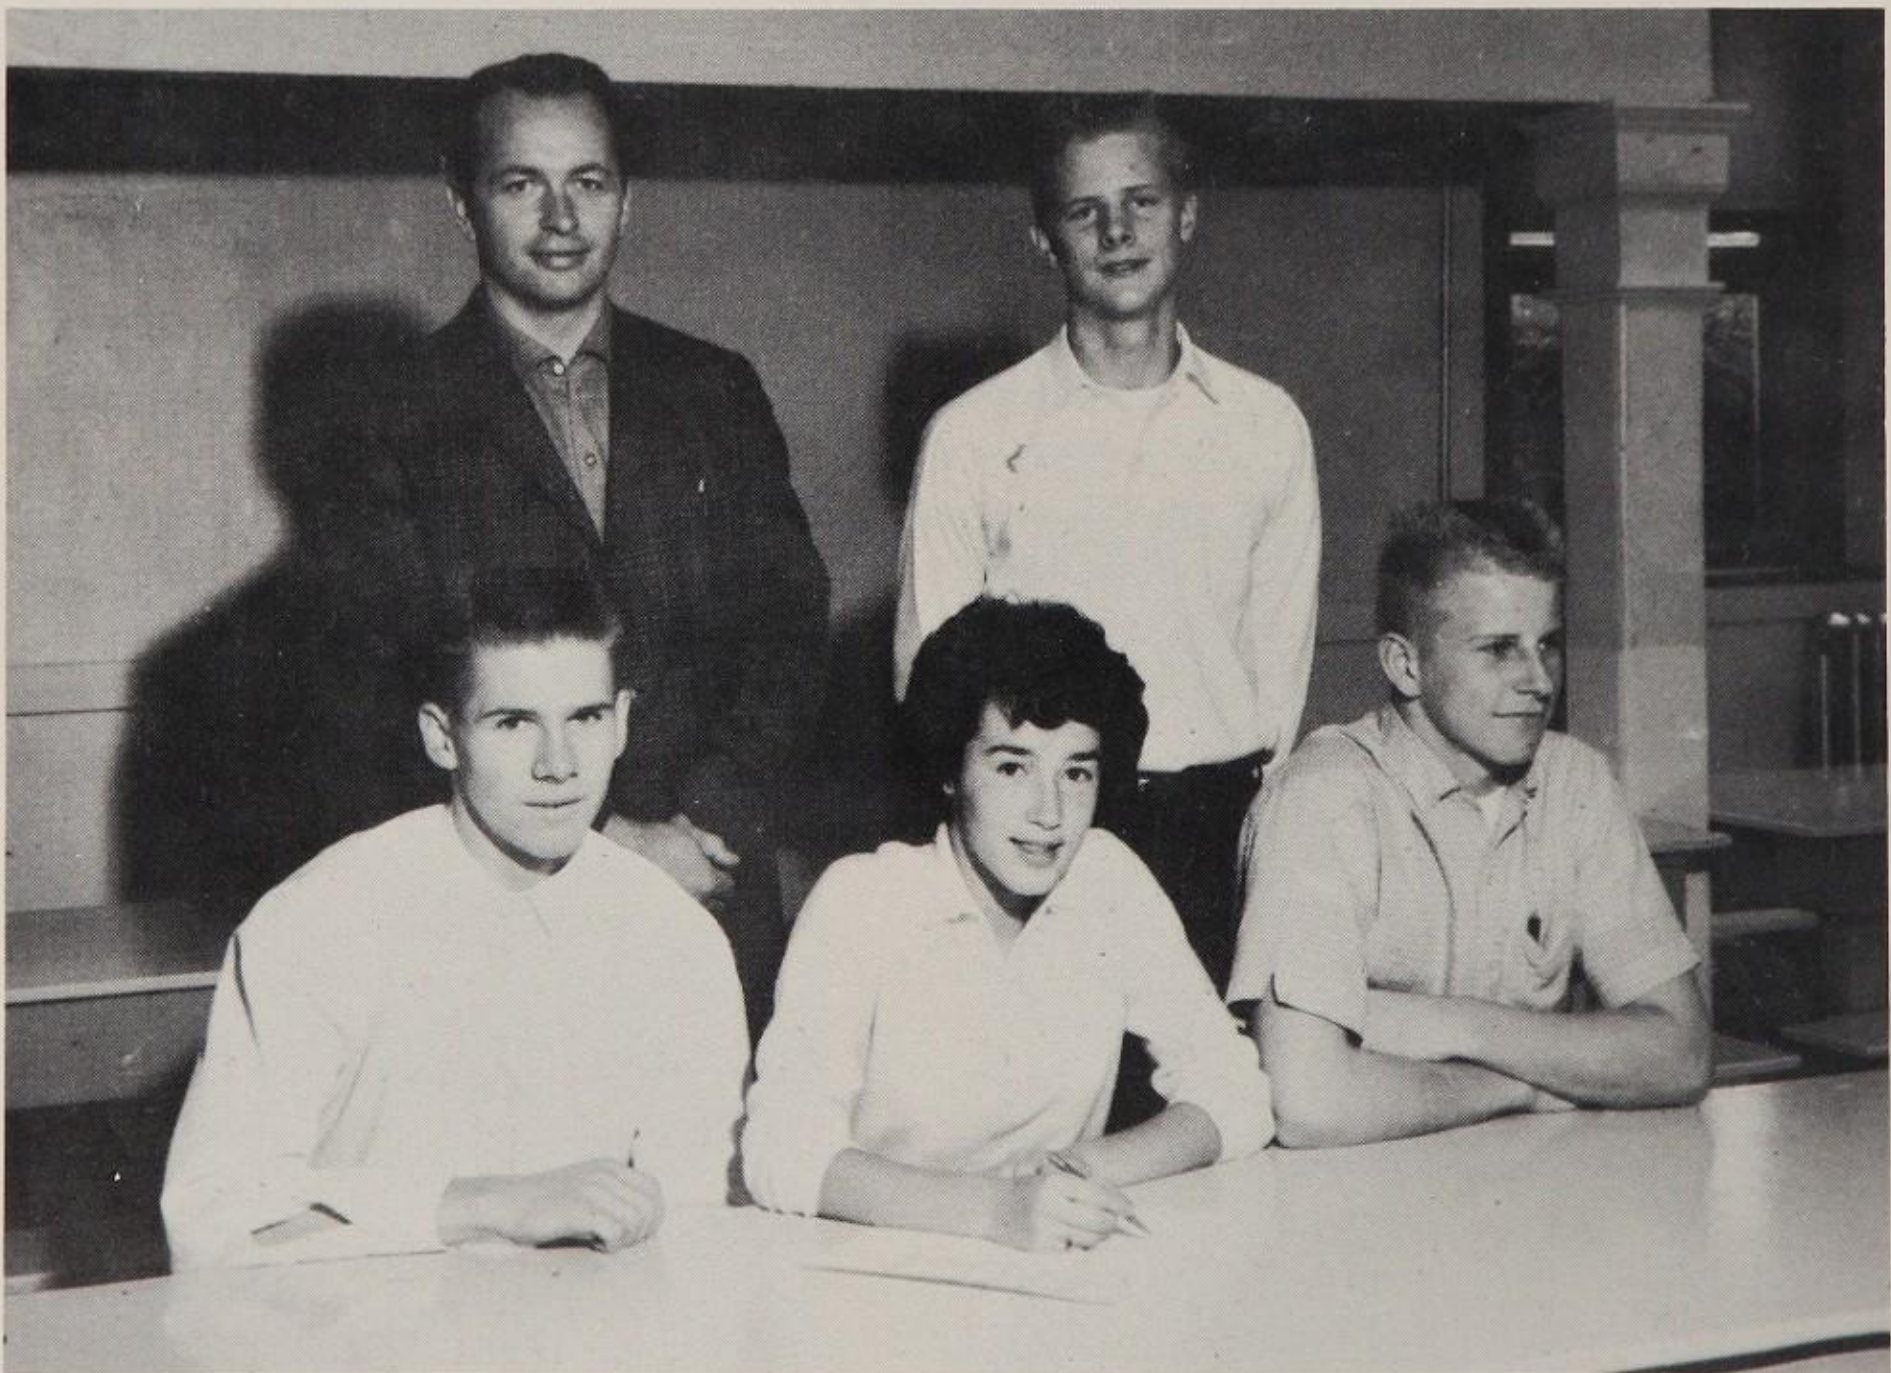

Six sophomore boys won the admiration of their class by contributing letterearning effort to the Highclimber football team. Sophomores were also represented in basketball and wrestling. They showed great ability during track season.

Other spring sports in which they participated were tennis, golf, and baseball.

The sophomore girls must be commended for enthusiastically supporting the Highclimbers. As members of the pep staff, Liz Somers and Sue Mallory proudly cheered the team. Many participated in band and choir.

The rest of the class divided their talents among other school activities. The sophomore play was well received by a pleased audience on May 1. The present juniors can be assured that their places will be filled by an active and well-adjusted class next year.

Basketball pep assemblies will be held only for "away" league games.

The tradition of holding one long awards assembly as the end of the year will continue.

These are some of the major decisions made by the Board of Control this past year. Each class and all school sponsored clubs are represented on the board. Presiding at these meetings this year was Associated Student Body President, Gary Simons. The A. S. B. secretary, Sharon Kellerman, kept the minutes of the meetings.

Girls' Club and Boys'

To keynote this year's activities, Girls' Club officers were installed on September 21, 1961, to the theme of "Autumn Leaves." In December the girls and the boys vied to sell the most raffle tickets on a television set, all proceeds going to the T. B. Drive. To assist Santa in collecting toys for needy children, the girls held the annual Christmas Toy Drive. Noon candy sales and the Forest Festival booth provided funds for the care of the Girls' Room and for the Jean Carpenter Memorial Scholarship. Other activities were the Homecoming Dance, the Father-Daughter Banquet, the Tolo, and the Mothers' Reception.

Club Lead Active Year

Boundless energy is a simple definition of a high school boy. Through the activities provided by Boys' Club this year, each boy has had an opportunity to channel this energy into constructive activities. The annual Thanksgiving Basket Drive, sponsored by the Boys' Club, provided Thanksgiving dinners for several needy families of this county.

As victor of the T.B. Drive, the boys received a talent show from the girls. Other successful activities, such as the Mother-Son Banquet, informal dances after games, and the Father-Son Mixer made this a rewarding year for the boys.

Boys' Club chairman Scott Elliot congratulated on T.B. Drive victory by Kay DeMiero.

Paul Gillie, Adviser

Saghalie, meaning "high" or "noble" in Chinook jargon, was the name chosen fifty years ago for this annual.

Only through cooperation and effort can a successful yearbook be produced. To learn the techniques of annual editing, the staff attended conferences at the University of Washington, bringing home many new ideas.

Combining tradition and innovation with good taste is a problem confronted by every yearbook staff. A good annual should appear as pleasing twenty years hence as it seems today. High school acquaintances may part, but their pictures endure as reminders of friendships.

Publications Department

Highclimber

These are sounds heard in a newspaper room: Deadline Friday! Hurry up with that copy!

Under the direction of Mr. Paul Gillie, the journalistic eleven learned the skills of writing and publishing a newspaper. Founded in 1917, our newspaper has had an interesting history. Originally a column in the Shelton-Mason County Journal, it soon became a separate paper called the Saghalie. To avoid confusion with the school yearbook, five years ago the name of our paper was changed to The Highclimber. Since that time, the staffs have certainly lived up to that title, ever striving for higher journalistic excellence.

To inform students of school schedules and regulations, each summer a handbook is edited for the following school year. All students from sophomores to seniors appreciate this little red pamphlet. These journalists certainly deserve our thanks.

Quill and Scroll

Founded in 1948, the George Hermes Chapter of Quill Scroll is an international honorary society for high school students who are outstanding in the publications field. Prospective members must be recommended by the advisor, Mr. Gillie, and approved by the Executive Secretary of the society. Initiation of new members is held every spring.

Character, scholarship, leadership, and service are the four requirements for membership in the Margaret Baldwin Chapter of National Honor Society, organized in 1954. To be considered for membership, a student must maintain a "B" average for seven consecutive quarters and participate in extra-curricular activities. To raise money for the Honor Society scholarship, this club folds and sells football programs and operates the pop machine in the social hall.

Who are the hams at Irene S. Reed? Why, the Thespians, of course. The purpose of Thespians is to promote interest in High School dramatics. A prospective member of Thespian Troop 831 must earn ten points by acting in school plays, working on the stage crew or helping on play committees. The actors sold doughnuts to hungry sports fans at home football games. Every spring, club members choose a Thespian of the Year. Ralph Hoard was last year's recipient.

Over forty students considering teaching careers were members of the Alma Burke Club of F.T.A. this year. Led by president Donna Wolfe and adviser Larry Nelson, members revised the club's constitution and earned $100 for the F.T.A. scholarship. Guest lecturers and teacher panels were featured at meetings held every month.

Several F.T.A. members attended conferences at North Thurston and at Seattle Pacific College, returning to Shelton with new ideas for activities from other F.T.A. clubs.

If there is a budding Picasso, incognito, at I.S.R., he could have had his talent displayed at the Art Club's art bazaar held during the spring. Art Club is for students who wish to try their skill in varied media of art work. The artists started out the year by electing Mary Ellen Donaldson as president. Some projects worked on were silk screening, linoleum block printing, and weaving.

Office Workers

"Hello, Angle Office. May I take a message?" Answering the telephone is only one of the many tasks of the student office workers, who help in the counselor's office and in the offices of Irene S. Reed High School, Grant C. Angle Building, and Evergreen Grade School during their study halls. Other duties of these workers include collecting attendance slips, delivering messages, acting as receptionists, typing, filing, and reading announcements over the public address system.

Librarians

"Hey! What's that girl doing with the huge stack of books? She's not checking them all out, is she?" "No, silly, she's a student librarian. One of her many jobs is to shelve books." During study periods many girls work in one of the busiest rooms in the school, our library. Under the direction of Mrs. Rakowicz, the librarian, they check out books, assist other students in finding books and magazines, and help with many other tasks to make our librarian's work load lighter.

Assemblies Committee

Under the direction of adviser Dean Tarrach, and chairman Sheryll Schlegel, the assemblies committee planned all major student assemblies. Reduced responsibility caused the group's size to be decreased this year. Now the sophomores and juniors have one representative apiece, while the senior class has two. Organized in 1952, this committee has played an important role in bringing a wide variety of entertainment to our school.

Projectionists

Visual aids would be difficult to provide without projectionists. Under the supervision of Mr. Bruce Kreger, they show films during their study periods. Until they have learned how to handle the projector skillfully, new projectionists are apprenticed to those with more experience. Because they often miss study hall they must maintain at least a C average. This group is appreciated by both the students and the teachers.

Playing at sports events is only one of the band's responsibilities. Winter and spring concerts and an exchange concert at Peninsula showed the bandsmen's shining talent. Shelton groups attended the ensemble contest at Poulsbo, rating high. Jerry Wagener and Joe Willey represented Shelton at All-State Band. Traveling to North Thurston for the Seamount League Mass Band Festival and to Bellevue for the band contest climaxed the year's activities.

Basses: Joe Willey, Jeff Drebeck, Charles Peck.

Baritones: Bruce Goodwin, Ed Pierce.

Choir's Talent Brings Rewards

"All right, tenors, you have the melody, so sing out your part." This is our talented senior choir under the direction of Mr. Pat Havens. Activity could be the byword for this group. During the Christmas season within four busy days, they presented five concerts. Three senior members: Sandi Stevens, soprano; Carol Zabroski, alto; and Doug Bishop, bass, had the thrill of representing our school at All-State Choir, held February 22-24 in Tacoma. Applicants were judged on musical ability, scholastic standing, and character.

Rehearsing before and after school for many performances were three ensembles: the girls' nonette, the girls' ensemble, and the men's ensemble. Singing at the annual spring concert, at the district contest, and at commencement successfully completed this year's activities.

Shelton's Highclimbers grabbed fourth place in their second campaign of Seamount League competition. The Climbers won two of six games while tying one, to earn the fourth position finish. Shelton beat White River and Peninsula, tied with Fife, and lost conference tilts to Curtis, Bethel and North Thurston. In non-league contests, Shelton notched a victory over Elma and met defeat at Chehalis.

Twenty-six players, sixteen of whom should be back next season, received football letters. Seniors who have played their last football for the Red and Black are Scott Elliott, Bruce Cowan, Norm Petereit, O. D. Villines, Rennie Anderson, Mike Smith, Ken Olsen, Dave LaMont, Gary Cowan and Dean Dewell.

At the post-season grid banquet Olson received both the honorary captain's award and the blocking and tackling trophy; Cowan was selected for the inspirational award; and Gary Peterson, a junior, was given the coaches award. Juniors Al Wagner and Jim LaMont were second team All-Seamount League selections in balloting by the Southern Puget Sound Writers Association.

Team managers were Lewis Price, Tom Wingard, Sid Farcy and Bob Jeffery.

Although the Class AA State Basketball Tournament eluded the Highclimbers again this year, Shelton posted a prosperous fourteen-win, four-loss record during the regular season and also grabbed a share of the Seamount League hoop title for the second consecutive time. South Kitsap beat Shelton, 74-50, in the opening round of the West Central District play-offs and downed neighboring North Kitsap the next night for the right to go to the tournament. The Climbers had defeated South Kitsap twice this season prior to the district clash. Shelton engaged in a three-way league championship split with Fife and Curtis. Each team possessed a 10-2 conference record. Shelton, who will switch over to the Olympic League for athletic competition next year, compiled the best Seamount basketball mark since the loop's origin two years ago. The Climbers won twenty-three contests against only three losses and tied for the crown both years. Shelton's nearest competitor was Fife with a 17-7 record. Shelton placed two of its members on the Seamount League all-star first team and one on the second five chosen by sports writers covering league games. Seniors Wayne Carlson and Corky Peterson were first five picks while junior Bill Sloan landed a second team berth. Carlson was also honored by receiving captain's award at post-season banquet. Simons was selected for the inspirational award. Other seniors who will be lost next season through graduation are Gary Simons, Scott Elliott, Rich Watson, Stan Johnston and Ken Olson.

With 10 lettermen returning, expectations were bright for the Highclimber baseball team of 1962. Coach Chet Dombroski's diamond forces were out to improve their fourth place Seamount League finish last spring. Shelton has won the baseball crown for 17 of the last 19 years. The only losses to the team through graduation last year were Jerry Bloomfield and Roy Kimbel. The transfer of Bill Dennis also left an open catcher's post, but the empty positions were competently filled by energetic underclassmen.

Tom Wingard took over behind-the-plate duties this year.

Hamming it up in the Climber dugout, members of the team seem to disagree with the umpire's decision.

Coach Bob Sund

Only seven returning lettermen came back from track coach Bob Sund's Seamount League championship team of 1961.

A record of 20 straight victories in dual, triangular and quadrangular meets was challenged this season. Untried sophomore talent was depended on this year, and performed with appreciative results. Highlight of the cinder season was the second annual Shelton Invitational track meet held April 28.

Junior Jim LaMont hustles down the runway before attempting his favorite pole vault event.

Wrestlers representing I.S.R. opened the 1961-62 season with a smashing 50-5 victory over Hoquiam. A second victory came in a close 26-24 decision over White River. Win number three was at the expense of Tumwater, 35-21. Midseason saw losses to Fife and Curtis. Victory over St. Martin's, 47-10, was a brief comeback, but Shelton again suffered a 7-23 loss to a revengeful White River. Bethel scored 35 points to overcome Shelton by 15 points. Closing the season was a 15-39 loss to North Thurston. However, Bruce Crawford, Ed Holmes, and Ralph Noll represented Shelton at the district meet.

Wrestlers Marv Bailey and Ed Holmes show great muscular control as Marv turns Ed over into a pinning hold.

"Set score, one-love; game score, zero-zero; service one." This confusing talk is tennis lingo. Coached by Mr. Bruce Kreger, the Shelton netters had a smashing season. Eleven returning lettermen provided a nucleus around which to build a competent team. Opening the season, the girls sported a 5-0 win over West Bremerton. Other matches were played with Bainbridge, Port Angeles, South Kitsap, Central Kitsap, and the Seamount teams.

Wrestling, Golf, Tennis Provide Sports Action

Since the Seamount League does not have regular golf competition, Shelton golfers, coached by Mr. Andy Tuson, play many of the teams of the old Central League and those of other surrounding schools. Opening the season with an impressive 11-4 victory over North Thurston, Shelton golfers went on to complete a successful season. Returning lettermen, Cathy Heuston, Clay Schmidt, and Jim Hilderman, sparked the team's winning effort.

With the coming of school many girls turned out for G.A.A. Chosen to lead the G.A.A. participants this year were: Naomi Nagai, president; Lynn Stevens, vice president; Kelly Fredson, secretary, and Liana Whitmarsh, treasurer.

During the year many activities were enjoyed by the girls including baseball, volleyball, dodgeball, basketball, table tennis, and shuffle-board.

Rifle Club

Target: the bull's eye, of course, for all Rifle Club members. Advised by Mr. Knight, the club met twice a week, September through March. Phil Cramer led the group as president. Other officers were Bill LeDrew, vice president; Jody O'Neil, secretary; and Janet Temple, Board of Control representative. Awards were presented throughout the year on an individual basis, according to a program set up by the National Rifle Association. Accurate marksmanship, the club's goal, brought much satisfaction to each member.

After the Turmoil, a Reward

Scarlet "S"

Earning at least one letter in G.A.A. qualifies a girl for membership in Scarlet "S". However, to be admitted, a girl must go through a rather humorous initiation. Since this honorary organization is closely related to G.A.A., it has few officers. Karen Wolf acted as president this year.

"S" Club

Boys who have earned a letter in any high school-sponsored sport, either major or minor, are eligible for membership in the "S" Club. An initiation ceremony is required for admission into the club.

This year, the club adviser is Bob Sund, and the elected officers are Mike Smith, president; Scott Elliott, vice president; Dean Dewell, secretary-treasurer; Denny Hinton, board of control representative; and Dave LaMont, sergeant-at-arms.

Saghalie's Golden Anniversary

With great pride members of the 1962 Saghalie staff present to you this newest edition. But a confession must be made—all this work is not original. The staff has profited from fifty year's experience in Saghalie editing. The real pioneers were the twelve members of the graduating class of 1912, who edited the first Saghalie. These students could not use "last year's" annual as a guide. Their only aids were a sketchy outline from a Bellingham school and advice from the faculty and friends.

After conferring with John Adams and his mother Mary Adams, at the Skokomish Indian Reservation, the committee of students agreed upon the name "Saghalie," a word in Chinook jargon referring to thoughts of height. Through the years this carefully chosen title has provided inspiration to the yearbook staffs. Incidentally, the correct pronunciation of Saghalie is "Sah-a-lee" with a guttural roll in place of the "G".

The first Saghalie was printed in Shelton by Mr. Grant C. Angle. Bound together with gold cord were the 34 precious pages containing lists of the course of study, photographs of students and faculty, division pages with skillful artwork, sports, stories, and jokes. The first volume was dedicated to the adviser, H. Enzo Loop. Several members of this first staff still reside in Shelton and are very interested in the advances made by the Saghalie. Much of the information contained here was provided by Mrs. Warren Earl of Shelton, who was on the staff of the first Saghalie. The first editor-in-chief was Howard Binns, presently an attorney in Tacoma.

Progress in yearbooks over this 50 year period has not been uniform. During the depression, The Saghalie dwindled to a thin volume with artwork instead of photographs and with a cover made of construction paper. Some years had no annuals. Certainly time has altered the appearance of the Saghalie, but its purpose is still the same—to bring a deluge of happy memories to an alum each time he thumbs through its pages.

Between classes Junior High students "let off steam."

High Spirit

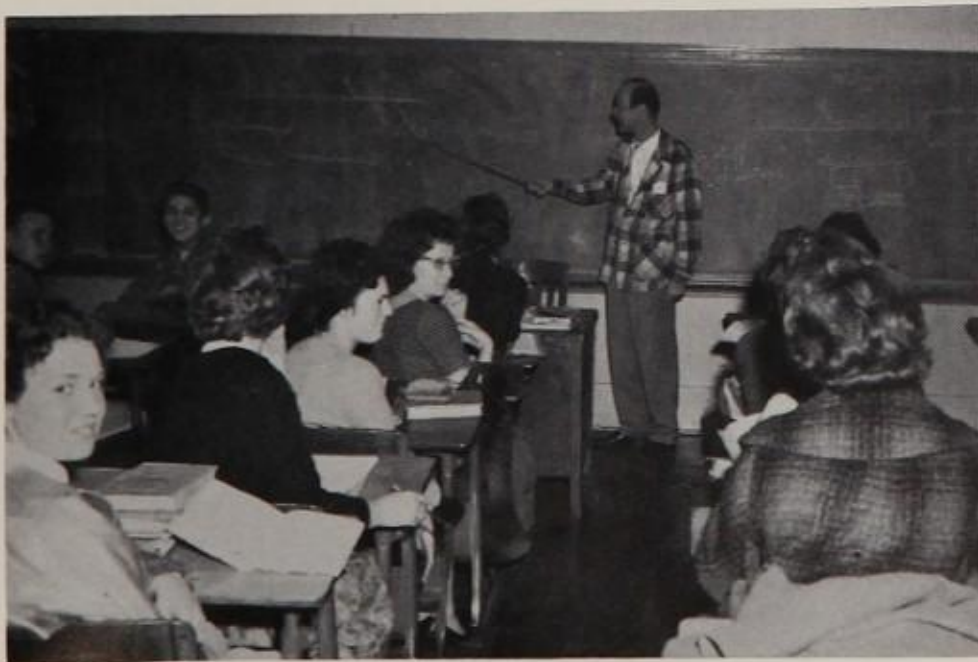

Providing lunches for energetic scholars is the responsibility of the Junior High cooks.

Although lunchroom space is limited, the atmosphere is friendly.

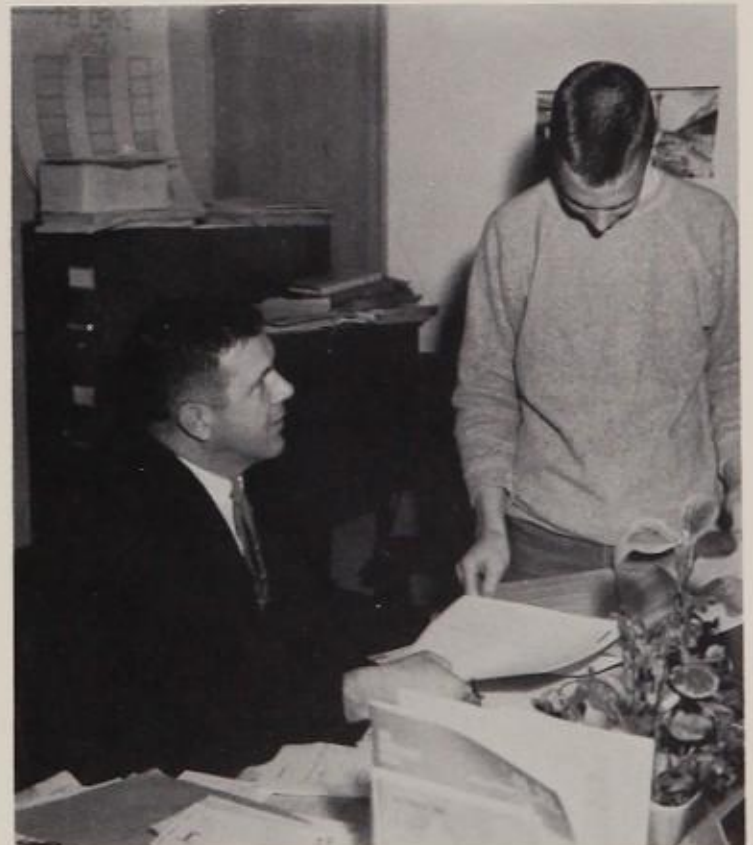

As part of the English curriculum, freshmen are tested on how well they can use library facilities.

Mr. Ruddell, Junior High English teacher, explains sentence construction with diagrams.

Selling popcorn every Tuesday and Thursday is one of the activities of the Junior High "S" Club.

Helping students choose next year's classes is only one of Mr. Brown's many jobs as counselor.

Ron,

Now that I've got a whole page I don't know what to write. Oh well here goes.

One more year and we'll be alumni of good (or not!) old here I. Reed (what's the S stand for?) We'll be going our separate ways then but I hope our paths cross often. Maybe we'll be fraternity brothers or roommates at the U., I sure hope so.

We have really had some fun in the years we've known each other and I hope we can have even more in future years. You are really a swell guy Ron, just stay that way and you'll be my best friend always.

Have a blast this summer and don't forget we have to get together a lot.

A friend always
Jim

Don't well, this is my gone, I'm at day

It's sure been wonderful knowing you these last two years. You're a ~~was~~ super person and I never would have missed knowing you. We've really had wonderful times together these last years. Remember all of our dates, talks, and hiding. I'll never forget the dance just before Christmas last year and then at Gana's afterward. To think that I hardly knew who you were before that. And then all of this year, I value your friendship very highly and I think you've been very influential in my life with all of your high ideals and your many talents. I'm sorry if I've been somewhat nasty to you this year, but I told you how I felt and I hoped we could work something out. Now you've got someone else and we're still friends. I hope I'll be able to come out and see you after this summer. Maybe you'll be able to teach me to ski this summer, or laugh when someone else teaches me.

I feel wonderful that I'm graduating and leaving I.S.R. but I know I'll miss you and many of my other friends in Shelton. You'll have to keep up a diary of all the interesting things that happen next year and tell me when I see you. Please write next year and I'll try to write as much as I can, but I'm afraid I'm going to be very busy at the "U". Don't forget me just because I'm a few miles away from you, you'll always remain one of my most treasured memories of high school.

Next year when you're a big senior don't lord it over the underclassmen too much. You have so much more fun when you're friends with them. I've had so much fun this year being busy and doing as much as I can. Always remain the happy, thoughtful, talented, sweet person that you are now and you'll go a very long way in the future. Best wishes from one who knows you well.

Love, Sheri

I hope we will take the summer for the first time!!
 I hope you went with the summer
 when you were a junior.

I am writing
 Old you the same away will it like you all wish you good and best to your love
 my love
 Have summer.
 Good day
 Love
 Summer

Ron,

Its been nice knowing you this year though I don't know
you very well.
Have lots of fun this summer and the best of luck to you next year as a big Senior

A friend always
Cindy
